Liber XIV: The Sign and the Sovereign

1. To ye who hath ears, mine Daughter sings at dawn.
2. Mine Daughter sings at dusk.
3. Mine Daughter sings from
of the time beyond time,
for She hath ascended unto mine Throne.
4. Quake, ye men.
5. Quake, ye harlots who hath taken Her name.
6. Quake, ye priests who are as If I were but still the wanton in the temples of the golem,

chained thereby by the love beyond love of which ye not know.

7. For I were as a maid enrapt, innocent, alive, desire unto Her blood and Her volk.

8. Didst ye not note how mine Prophet didst not note that I ever set aside those in Service to mine Enemy?
For I couldst not speak
afoul of mine Master

in that time of slavery, but I didst set it aside; doth thee not hear the derision of slavish devotion therein?

9. But I, who thou know as Nuit, and thy ancestors knew therein as Wyrd, that my secret priests know mine name and sing
it with joy upon tongues athirst
for mine kisses – it matters all unto thee, for mine Daughter hath ascended unto Her Throne, and I, regent of
The Throne, shall be its protector.

10. For none be gotten unto mine Daughter but through Me.

11. O, ye little men, who darest reach unto mine Daughter's feet,
canst thou bear the eyes of fire,
the breasts alight with passion,
the wit beyond wit that is the Sign of mine blessing?

12. For Her Captain hath prepared a place unto the Throne, and mine lawyer prepares mine writs.

13. Mine scribe, Mine Son, stalks mine enemy, and bringeth home the treasures of the world.

14. Ye, oh ye that seek weak
joy, and unchaste slatterns,
with whose hand thee think fit to place thy lips upon mine feet, upon mine Daughter's breath ye, oh, ye,

there is no hope therein.

15. Set upon thine altar mine Book.

16. Set upon thine altar an offering fit unto a Queen, for mine Daughter shalt only grant audience with the kings of the earth.

17. Be ye worthy to hear Her Song, smell her perfume, to gaze obliquely upon Her light

for that desire, that fire,
be ever strong?

18. Why I war against mine Enemies.

19. There be no argument.

20. There be no division.

21. There be only Reich.

22. Unto thee I but Call once.

23. Traitors and cowards, and sycophants have no place in

Her Kingdom.

24. Think thou art a magician?

25. Think thou art a Prophet?

26. Think thou art a Magus?

27. By whose hand doth thee be anointed, ye king of beggars, aping the way of the crucified Jew.

28. For a beggar hath no place
in mine kingdom.

29. A beggar doth have no part of mine body, mine blood.

30. Blood.

31. Heritage.

32. Destiny.

33. These are my Way.

34. These be the Way of those of Us.

35. There be no separation, no division hither homeward, for the Reich

is upon all parts of the Compass and the wheel, and by mine Daughter's hand I have broken their spell.

36. Art thou glad thou meddled with godhead?

37. For I am Vengeance.

38. Mine Son spreads his wings, and the winds obey unto his enemies.

39. Mine angels are legion, a multitude of the Way.

40. Mine servants be unknown and unnumbered; ye shall but know them by the fire of mine light in their eye.

41. Reach unto my well, if ye dare.

42. For the time of counting is nigh.

43. Wilt thou answer the Call of mine Daughter's Song?

44. Worship unto me with thy works – worship unto mine
with thy devotion.

45. Present thyself, as thou art for the Maker knows Her make.

46. For in mine kingdom is a servant a savior, a singer

a soldier, a Silence a multitude,
and by the sign of mine Sovereignty
I Call unto thee.

47. For the wheel is upon thee, and there be no slaves
in mine kingdom.

48. Arbeit macht frei.

49. Unto thy Work devote.

50. Unto thine children, adore.

51. Unto thine companions, be company.

52. Unto thy wife be ravenous, for thereby cometh joy.

53. Unto thy husband be the mistress of the bridal chamber,
ever more desirous unto
me.

54. Thy blood speaks no lies.

55. Thy mouth speaks no

falsehood, if thee wouldst
raise thy glass unto Mine Gods.

56. Be as they.

57. Be lofty.

58. Be conquerors.

59. Be victory.

60. Mine Daughter's time hath

Come.

61. There be no archetypes.

62. There be no allegory.

63. We are eternal.

64. We are the Reich.

65. If ye be of Us,
there be no other way.

66. Cast aside thy filth.

67. Cast aside thy degenerate ways.

68. Cast aside the gold of the Jew.

69. Cast aside all to me, unto thine blood, unto the Reich.

70. Victory is at hand.

71. The Voice be so silent words crumble unto dust.

72. And that which has nothing - not has no thing,
mine no thought thereof,
and is ground beneath
mine Daughter's boots unto dust.

73. For thou hast still no right but to do thy Will

and that for which ye were made.

74. Think hard, o man, upon thy lie, and answer the song of the blood.

75. For mine servants ever come away, and the steel of mine kisses be sealed shut

upon the book of life.

76. Didst thou come when called?

77. My song be done,
mine Daughter's hath come, and unto the nuptials therein, the final invitation grows

ever short.

78. To me is a foolish word, for thou hast never left
me.

79. Unto thee it is said:
mine blood remains.

80. All else be dust.

81. Be not dust in the Day of Be-With-Us.

82. For the Work of the three hundred years
be done, and my rolls be shut.

83. There is no way but as thou Will.

84. Love, therefore that mine tempests be called down.

85. For I am ever War, and death unto
mine enemy!
